I create 3D sculptures of that are designed to delight. I specialise in creatures great and small, which are carved out of wood. I come from a family of woodworkers. I love being around wood. The last few decades, I have been as a career helicopter pilot, collecting over 10k flying hours. It was while waiting on standby to fly medical evacuations that I first became passionate about shaping wood. I challenge myself technically, striving to reveal the intriguing inner character of whatever creature, I choose to sculpt. All my carvings are designed to connect with the viewer in a tangible and tactile way to delight.
